"ARE THERE ANY QUESTIONS?" This expression is often used by classroom teachers to check on the learning progress of their students. There are several basic questions, as all journalism students know, that are the basis of a good story. We are using these questions as the foundation for the 1989 SABER in hopes that questions you might have about the school year 1988-89 might be answered by reading this book. So ... sit back, relax, and enjoy. When you finish, we're going to ask you again, " ... Any Questions?"

. . . Any Questions

The idea of a dinner theater was new to DHS. Above are Josh Buzzard and Kim Madajewski playing their parts in "Once Upon A Mattress."

Facing Page: A Brian Thomas exits the voting machine after casting his ballot. George Bush won the mock election. B The 1988 Miss DeKalb County Fair Queen is DHS student Tanessa Burnett. C The traditional visit of the classic cars gave many school groups a chance to make extra money.

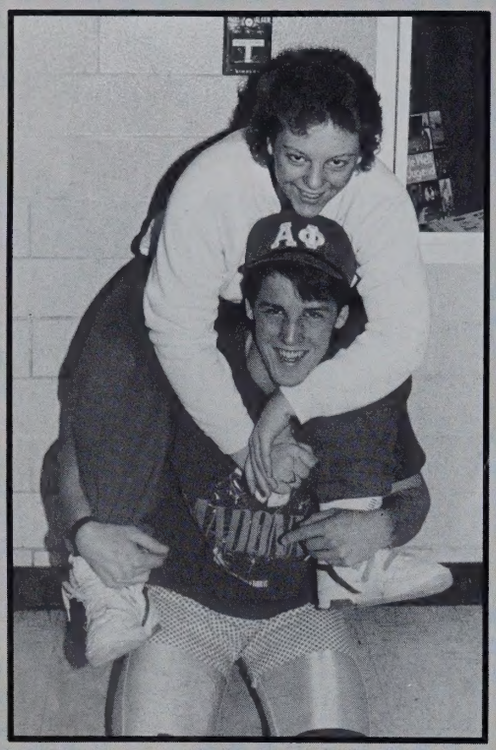
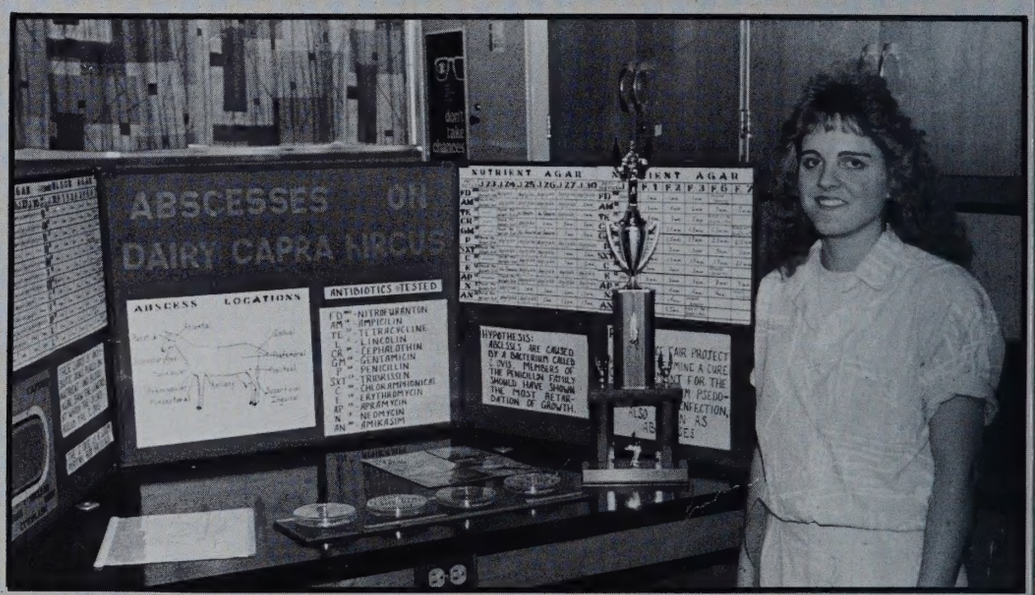
SENIOR POLL:





ABSCESSES ON
DAIRY CAPRA HIRCUS
ABSCESS LOCATIONS
ANTIBIOTICS TESTED
HYPOTHESIS:
ABSCESS ARE CAUSED BY A BACTERIUM CALLED CVD. MEMBERS OF THE PENICILIN FAMILY SHOULD HAVE SHOWN THE MOST RETARDATION OF GROWTH.

Class Clowns (top): Showing their joking nature are Candy Rodgers and Jeff Warner.

Most Likely to Succeed (above): Holding some of the big bucks they are predicted to earn (if money equals success) are Paul Rahe and Lara Shultz.

Who are the leaders of the Class of 1989? While the rest of the students were busy taking their ISTEP and Achievement Tests, the seniors met together. One of their activities was to fill out a poll taken by the 1989 SABER. After careful tabulation, the following results can be reported.

Selected as Most Likely to Succeed were Paul Rahe and Lara Shultz. The strong relationship between success and willingness to work was seemingly recognized by the seniors since these two were also named as the Most Studious.

Recognized as having the Most School Spirit were Scott Boger and Renee Smith, while John Ulm and Lori Pomeroy were named as the Most Athletic. The two seniors selected by their classmates as Most Talented were Jeff Funk and Kim Madajewski.

In some of the categories, there was not always a clear-cut winner. In the area of Best Personality, Shelly Rugman was the obvious choice among the girls, but the votes for the guys were so spread out that no clear winner could be determined.

For Class Clown, Jeff Warner was selected and Candy Rodgers narrowly beat out Holly Outland on the female side. But Candy Rodgers was the overwhelming winner as Biggest Partier while Jeremy Dietrich and Jason Finn ended up in a tie among the guys in that category.

In the area of material possessions, those seniors named as having the Neatest Car or Truck were Brian Rieke and Susie Lepley. Mike Houser and Erica Wallace were selected as Best Dressed.

The poll questions covered two other categories, but in both cases there was such a wide difference of opinion that no real winner could be named. Most Valuable to the School was the first of these categories. Several seniors felt that no individual members of their class had been the most valuable. The final category, the member of the opposite sex with whom you'd like to be stranded on a deserted island had some very interesting results, but the leading vote getter was named by only fourteen seniors.

Most Talented: Jeff Funk (top left) plays the piano to accompany the swing choir. Kim Madajewski (top center) plays her part as Princess Winnifred in "Once Upon a Mattress."

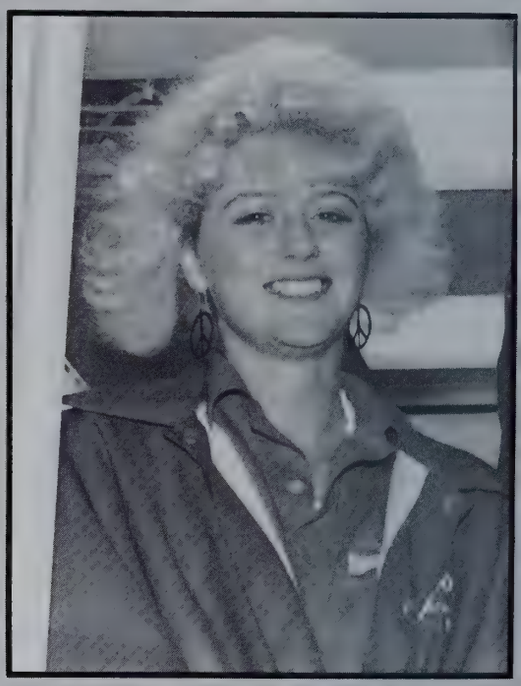
JOB SURVEY:



Top: Chad Gingrich and Scott Elliot are having fun in the newly opened Big Wheel store in Auburn.

Bottom: Running the cash register is just part of the job at the Shell Car Wash and Food Mart, where Jeff Lewellen works.

Top Right: "Your order will be ready in a minute," says a smiling Missy Jarnigan as we go through the drive-up window at Skooters.

Bottom: Mat Miller seems to be enjoying his lesson on the cash register as Erika Howard tries to show him how to take a customer's order at Hardee's.

A student employment survey was taken during the week of October 17th. It was surprising to find out how many students have a part time job after school and on weekends. The results showed that 653 stuents work and 347 do not, with the majority working in fast food restaurants, family-owned businesses or baby sitting.

The average salary was from $3.50 to $4.50. When asked if they felt that working affected their school work, 202 said yes and 350 said no. If there wasn't any time for homework after school, then there was always homeroom or study halls to get it done.

The hours varied from one to over 40 per week. One hundred ninety one worked 10 hours, 209 worked 11-20 hours, 163 worked 21-30 hours, 64 worked 31-40 hours, and 14 worked over 40 hours per week.

The parents of 290 students expected them to work and 350 didn't. Many students just work to get extra spending money for weekend entertainment, food, clothes, and car expenses.

We asked several Barons for their comments about student jobs. According to Dawn Houser, "It's a chance to get out of the house and meet new people." Matt Disch said he likes working because of the money but doesn't like it because he doesn't have much extra time. Troy Reinoehl likes the people and likes working lots of hours, while Heather Schiffli likes the extra money and meeting new people. On the other side, Mike Spratt said that he doesn't want to work due to laziness!

Top: Working at Diemer's Dreamers, a yogurt store in the Cord Plaza next to Scotts, Michelle Coleman serves herself after a hard day's work.

Bottom: Working at Revco keeps Linda Prosser busy. There's always customers to help and shelves to stock. There's never a dull moment in this busy store.

FALL PLAY:

Top: Jonathon and Dr. Einstein discuss the hole that they have discovered in the basement where they can bury Mr. Spenalzo, their dead body.

Bottom: The Rev. Dr. Harper, who lives just across the cemetery, talks with Martha about sending Teddy to the Happy Dale Sanitarium.

Right: Adding many years to the face of Shelly Rugman is the challenge of the play's director, Mrs. Shelley Johnson.

The problem of what to do about the homeless was solved very simply by the Brewster sisters in Brooklyn in the 1940's. If any roomers that they took in seemed to have no one who cared about them, they would serve them their "special" wine (which included arsenic) and send them to the "Panama Canal" in the basement for burial.

This is only one of the plot complications of the play Arsenic and Old Lace, which was presented by the Drama Department in the auditorium on November 18 and 19. The play was directed by Kent and Shelley Johnson, assisted by student director Holly Outland. The stage manager was Cara Glassie.

The two Brewster sisters, played by Kim Madajewski and Shelly Rugman, had to cope with the whims of Teddy Brewster (Jason Mutzfeld), who believed himself to be Teddy Roosevelt. This did come in handy when it was necessary to send another dead gentleman to the basement's Panama Canal.

The love interest was provided by Matt Hoham and Kari Randinelli, whose romance was put under a severe strain by the return of Jonathon Brewster (David Kennedy) with Dr. Einstein (Raymond Noragon), who had a dead body of their own to dispose of.

The play went off with few hitches. Some of the cast members had a large number of lines to memorize, and hitting the cues at the proper time was often a problem during rehearsal. Mr. Spenalzo, the dead body in the window seat, although he had few lines, had a problem with getting his head hit by the seat being slammed on it or while being transported to the cellar.

Top, Left: Mortimer Brewster tries to convince Elaine that she should leave now because he has just discovered a dead body in the window seat.

Top Right: While the aunts have been talking about the problems with Europe, Teddy tries to point out that the real danger lies elsewhere — in Japan.

Bottom, Right: When the two unsuspecting police officers arrive to pick up some toys for charity, they give Teddy a proper salute.

DANCES:

After most of the home football and basketball games, DHS students looked forward to being themselves and having fun dancing. Enthusiasm was still high whether the game was a loss or a win, since all of us here at DeKalb are good sports. Right?

One night in the fall the girls got to ask the guys out for the Sadie Hawkins dance. The evening often began with dinner, paid for by the girl and then on to the dance to get hitched and dance. Time-outs were taken to have pictures taken in the fancy farmer's clothes that most students wore.

On Homecoming night Holly Woodworth and Mike Houser were crowned as the King and Queen. The night's victory brought fun and excitement for the court and their fans as they danced the night away.

Not only were all of the special dances fun. Also the dances held just for the fun of it were memorable too. All in all, every dance was a new way to have fun.

Top: See how it's done? We can imagine Erica Wallace is asking Tisha Yarlot as she watches her do a crazy dance step.

Lower: Wearing a shirt in honor of her favorite player "Boz" is Angie Ranney as she enjoys a typical after-game dance.

SPARE TIME:

Top: Jason Mutzfeld spent much of his spare time fulfilling the requirements to be an Eagle Scout. Here, Mayor Burt Dickman delivers the Eagle Scout challenge to Jason at his award ceremony on January 23.

Lower: Three guesses what Jason Finn, Candy Rodgers, and Jeremy Dietrich do in their spare time. They were elected the biggest partiers by the senior class.

Right: Much of Jamie Bonecutter's spare time is spent on the ice. Shown here in his Team Indiana uniform, he also was goalie for New Haven.

Many of DHS's organizations offer activities to get involved in during our spare time. Students may also find time to enjoy their hobbies, spend time with their families, and pursue many other fun pastimes.

After school is over, some students typically do such free-time activities as going out for pizza, shopping at the mall in Fort Wayne, or seeing the latest movie at the Auburn or Fort Wayne theaters. Some burn up gas cruising up and down Seventh Street in Auburn.

Going to movies can end up being quite costly, with the cost of the ticket, snacks, and the gas to drive there. Many students choose to stay home and watch such movie channels as HBO, Showtime, and the Movie Channel. Renting a movie at a video store is another way to go.

For the more athletically inclined, there were always such activities as bowling, shooting baskets in the driveway, playing tag or tackle football with friends, ping pong, or just aerobics to keep fit and in shape.

Other events that kept us Barons busy were parties, ball games, dances, the YMCA, and what everyone looks forward to all year is spending spring break wherever they choose.

What Do We Do?

During the school day the only real free time we get is at lunchtime. It gives us a chance to get away from school work and also catch up on all the latest gossip.

Whatever the activities, Barons could always be counted on to find something to do in their spare time.

Top: Some students think they have spare time while they're in class. Here, Chad Delagrange catches 40 winks while the teacher isn't looking.

Lower: Frank Souder, Mike Houser, and Matt Fetter spend a Saturday visiting IU and watching their favorite Hoosiers.

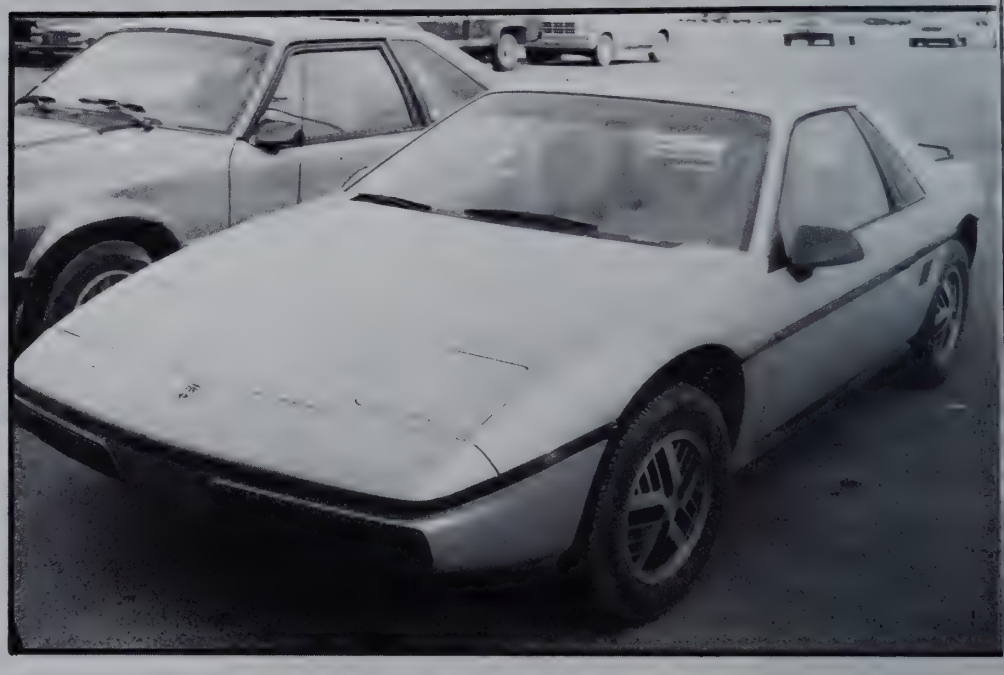
TRANSPORTATION:



Top: Brian "Worm" Rieke stands next to his pride and joy the "Night Crawler." The seniors voted this the neatest truck owned by a guy.

Below: One very windy ride to school would be this motorcycle. But Doug Randol's bike has no problem fitting in the tight parking spaces.

Top right: Tammy Reynolds tries to hurry and get her books so that she can get to her locker and then to her class on time.

Lower above: The choice of the senior class as the neatest car or truck driven by a girl is this silver Fiero owned by Suzi Lepley.

Transportation, the simple fact o being moved from one location to another, is very important to many teens This year, trucks of all sizes were very popular here at DHS. Those lucky enough to have a powerful over-sized truck could get themselves to school in any type of weather. Still, year after year students depend on the most popular way to school, their car.

Whether it's your own car or belongs to your parents, driving to school every day seems to be a must. Some of the cars out in the parking lot are brand new while others may look to be on their last axle. Many are equipped with elaborate stereo systems to provide the all-important sounds that are music to our ears.

Most freshmen and sophomores who are not lucky enough to have their license yet must depend on that ever-so-popular bus. After the 3:30 bell rings, you can find the big yellow chariots lined up outside. First they pick up the high school students and then they go to the middle school, where nearly all of the students get on. Bus riders may find themselves getting home anywhere from 3:45 to 4:45, depending on where they live.

One last way for some of the more energetic students was peddling their way to school. Usually the younger students may ride their ten-speeds or free style bikes, which can prove to be economical but also sometimes chilly.

Top: Getting the kids to school on time is the job of the big yellow school buses as shown in the two top pictures.

Lower left: Are these trucks having a convention? The popularity of all kinds of trucks seems to be growing as this typical scene from the parking lot shows.

Above: Katrina Tietje and Shelly Steele look very happy to be getting out of school as they leave the parking lot in Shelly's Jeep.

HOLIDAYS

Two language clubs had special projects for Valentines Day. Top: Kirk Sells receives the carnations someone special sent to him through a French Club project. Lower: Scott Allison dances with a nursing home resident as part of a Spanish Club project.

The music department gets into the Christmas spirit by giving special programs. Top: The Brigadiers present a special program at the Snider basketball game. Lower: The choir is helped by Santa to present a student convocation.

Why do you like the holidays? While most students like the holidays because they bring their family and friends closer together, others like them because they get out of school. And there are still others who like them just because they get to eat a lot.

Before Christmas vacation, the band and choir filled our hearts with the joy of Christmas by having a special convocation during school.

Also before Christmas break we sponsored a food drive so that the needy kids around the area could have a good Christmas dinner thanks to the Honor Society.

Even though we did not have a white Christmas, it didn't stop our holiday spirit. Students were glad when December 23rd came around. While most students were recovering from Christmas day, the Baron Brigade was packing for Florida. These lucky Barons got to march and represent our school in the Citrus Bowl Parade.

In February, many people showed their affection to the ones they love by sending them carnations on Valentines Day.

On February 21st we celebrated the birthday of the DeKalb Central district. All students and faculty celebrated with cake, ice cream, and entertainment from our choir.

Left: Painting the town of Auburn! Here's Autumn Whittington and Heather Rekeweg decorating Carbaugh's windows as an Art Club project for the holidays.

Top: Remembering the songs of 25 years ago, Mrs. Sue Orr is serenaded by David Kennedy and the swing choir for DeKalb Central's birthday party.

Lower: We were in school for Veterans' Day, so some vets came to share their experiences. Here, Grover O'Dell tells of his time in Vietnam.

DINNER THEATER:

Top: Kim Madajewski, as Princess Winnifred, sings "Shy" shortly after her arrival at the castle of King Sextimus and Queen Aggravain.

Lower: The Wizard (Raymond Noragon) and Queen Aggravain (Holly Outland) listen as Sir Harry announces that Winnifred is a true princess.

Above: The Wizard talks with Princess #12 (Kari Randinelli), who is soon to be rejected as a true princess.

"Once Upon a Mattress" was the play selected for the first-ever presentation of a dinner theater. This musical adaptation of the fairy tale of "The Princess and the Pea" was performed before good crowds on February 3 and 4.

The roast beef and chicken buffet-style dinner, catered by the Auburn House, was served in the commons, and the musical was presented in the auditorium. Shelley and Kent Johnson, directors, were assisted by Natalie Reynolds.

The play was based on the idea that while Prince Dauntless (Josh Buzzard) wants to get married, his mother (Holly Outland) won't let him. To insure this, she devises seemingly impossible tests for each prospective bride, who must be a true princess. When Princess Winnifred (Kim Madajewski) arrives, the task of detecting a pea beneath a stack of mattresses is the new test. Since no one else in the kingdom can marry until the prince has a bride, everyone is pulling for Winnifred. Especially concerened are Sir Harry (David Kennedy) and Lady Larken (Tanessa Burnett).

First Effort A Success

The production seemed in jeopardy for a while when Holly Outland lost her voice a few days before opening night, but she recovered in time. During the play itself, there were a few problems with props that were either forgotten or that failed to function properly.

Assisting with the production were choreographer Pam Good and stage manager Wendy Palubicki. Members of the pit band were Mrs. Sondra Franks, Brad Anderson, and Jeremy Western.

Far Left: Nicole Farrington sits on her perch and sings the "Nightingale Lullaby," designed to put the princess to sleep.

Top Above: Members of the court including Jenny Chapman and Jason Morton dance the "Spanish Panic." This dance is supposed to make the princess very tired so that she will sleep through the night.

Lower Above: The Minstrel (Jason Mutzfeld) and the Jester (Kent Hertsel) watch as King Sextimus (John Bry) tells about the arrival of the stork.

TYPICAL DAY:

Above: Ha Ha!! We caught Curt Betz skipping out of class again. Don't worry, we won't tell, but you better watch out for Mr. Branneman around the corner.

Top right: Here are juniors Debbie Bush, Kim Speer, Lisa Forrest, and JoLynn Houghton just finishing chowing down their lunches.

Lower right: Cheri Oden and Beth Scranage are showing us one of the better dishes from our menu in the DHS lunchroom.

Another day, another A, but not for everyone. As the 8:15 bell rings, students are rushing to their classes so they won't get any tardies.

During second hour the morning announcements begin with the attention-getting "bongs." Then Mr. Fites' voice echoes throughout the school, telling us of the up-comong events.

Socializing at the lockers is a big thing in the halls since there is nowhere else to go. (You could go to the restrooms to smoke a cigarette, but then you usually take a trip to the assistant principal's office afterwards.)

Falling asleep in class is another big thing at school. Some teachers relax their students so much that it's irresistable to lay your head down to catch a few z's. But this also can lead to trouble. Daydreaming is another event that can lead to trouble. But it sure is hard to pay attention when there are so many other things to think about.

When it is finally time for lunch, students find their friends and shoot the breeze. While some bring their own lunches, some take the risk and eat the school's lunch, and others just snack on the junk food we have.

Sitting in the classroom waiting impatiently for the long day to end is very exhausting. But when that 3:30 bell comes around and sixth hour class is over, students are all ready to go. Home may not be where everyone goes after school. There may be practices, a part time job, or just go around town with friends.

IN THE SPRING:

Top: Standing outside of the Side O' Sea Motel in Daytona Beach are seniors Lori Pomeroy, Tricia Schmidt, and Jill Dietsch.

Lower: When you go to Florida, you must eat sea food. Julie Geeting and Lana Seiler ham it up while waiting for their waitress to serve them.

Right: Dawn Houser and Jenna Linder take a break from shopping in the mall to have a personal visit with the Easter Bunny.

Spring Break was a long-awaited vacation for many Barons. Sometimes it seemed like it would never get here, especially since some students had their vacation plans made since the start of the school year.

Florida was definitely the "hot" spot for Spring Break. Campus Life went on its annual trip to Disney World, Epcot Center, and to New Smyrna Beach. Others who didn't go to Florida went to visit relatives and friends in different states, and some who were not lucky enough to get out of Indiana just stayed home and spent the Easter season with family. Others took advantage of the extra time to work more hours and earn more money.

This was also a time for teachers to take a well-deserved break from DHS and get away from it all. Many teachers who have an interest in golfing went to various southern states. It was a perfect time to take advantage of the nice weather and practice up on their golf skills before summer arrives.

Other faculty members traveled south as well. This gave them a well-deserved chance to "get away from it all" with other members of their family. Others stayed around home for a few days to catch up on grading papers and to prepare the final exams.

Over all, it was a very enjoyable Spring Break for students as well as teachers.

TRADITION:

Top: "On the one hand . . ." Tevye finds himself having to make many decisions concerning his life and his family's future, so he must consider both sides carefully.

Top right: The wedding of Motel, the Tailor, and Tzeitel, Tevya's daughter, takes place beneath the canopy — according to tradition.

Lower right: The bottle dance is a highlight of Motel and Tzeitel's wedding celebration. Dancers are Troy Stahly, Jenny Dunn, and Brent Troxell.

"Without tradition our lives would be as shaky as a fiddler on the roof." These words of Tevye, the Dairyman, introduce the audience to the central theme of "Fiddler on the Roof." The hit musical was presented in the auditorium on April 28 and 29.

Jason Mutzfeld portrayed Tevye, who found his life in turmoil, torn between the old ways and the new. Tevye and his wife Goldie, played by Dawn VanAllen, had five daughters. The three oldest ones were of marriageable age and had minds of their own. They were unwilling to accept the matchmaker's (Holly Outland) choice of husband.

The oldest, Tzeitel (Jenny Chapman), convinced Tevya to let her marry Motel, the Tailor (Matt Hoham), rather than Lazar Wolf, the Butcher (Vince Wells), even after an agreement had been made according to tradition.

Then the next two daughters also defied tradition: Hodel (Michelle Coleman) with Perchik, the Student (David Kennedy) and Chava (Angie Sproat) with Fyedka (Josh Durst). The latter was especially disturbing to Tevya, because Chave had married outside of the faith.

There were political changes going on in Russia as well, and the pogroms said that all of the Jews must leave Anateuka. As the play ended, Tevya and his family were leaving for America, taking their traditions (or what was left of them) with them.

Over 80 students were involved in this huge production directed by Kent and Shelley Johnson. Tanessa Burnett was the student director. David Boggs was the assistant director. Others who helped with the production were Richard Karkosky, pit band director; Gail Bratton, children's choir director; Rich Drew, stage manager; Alison Hoff, Choreography; and Jason Morton, lights.

The standing ovation of the audience each night was truly a tribute to everyone who had a hand in the elaborate production.

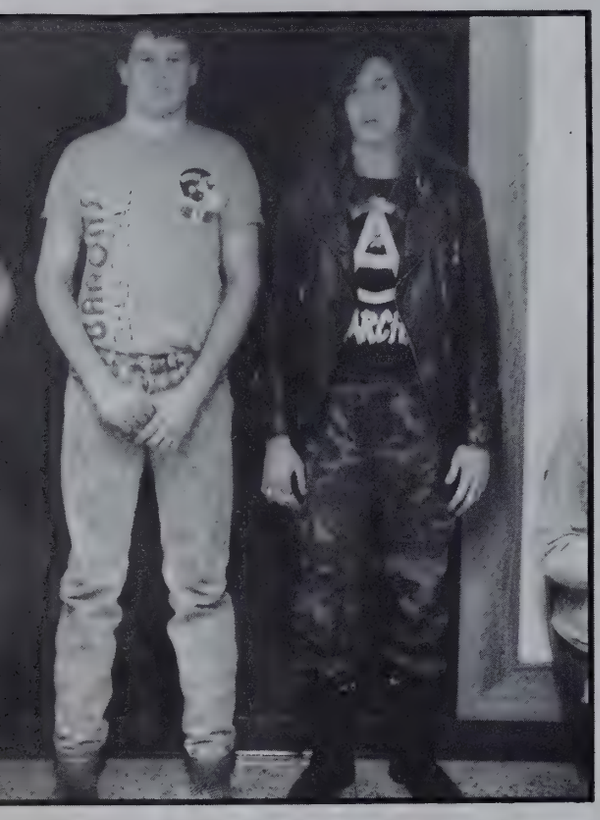
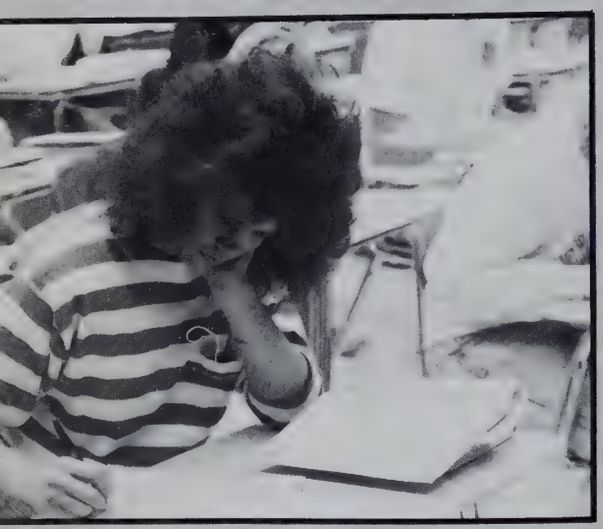
STYLES:





Top: From cowboy boots to combat boots, Jake Barnhart and Bryan Leverenz show the variations in clothing.

Lower: Since a lot of students feel that going to school is like being in prison, Lisa Holmes wears stripes. Seriously, stripes were "big" this year.

A person roaming through the hallways will soon be aware of the variation of the clothing. This year, whatever the fad might be, overall, the students wore whatever showed their uniqueness. Many students used their clothing style to make a personal statement about themselves and their attitude toward the world.

From jeans with lots of holes to dress-up pants, all types of clothes were "in." Even in the middle of the winter, while people were wearing long thick sweaters and boots, some crazy students wore shorts and miniskirts.

Students were wearing a lot of T-shirts this year. There were concert T's, surfing and skating T's, tie dies, and just plain old white ones. Others sported clever sayings or advertised a favorite university.

This year shaved heads and flat tops were not really "in."Students were going more for the longer styles.

As you look down to the floor of our hallways, you can see the combinations of shoes. From sneakers, cowboy boots, high heels, and flats, the shoes are in all sizes and styles. Hightop sneakers either loosly tied or not tied at all were common.

When the students got ready to leave our school, they put on their jackets that range from leather, jeans, animal fur, and plastic.

Whatever the style or fad, if it's "in," you may be sure it is "in" at DHS.

Top: What was typical clothing for guys? Sweaters, shirts, jeans (usually faded), and some type of jacket, shown here courtesy of Daryl Trufant and Charles Maxwell.

Lower Left: Would you believe it's the middle of the winter? Missy Crager and Amy Weaver look as if they wish that summer would come.

PROM '89:

May 6, 1989! A big day for most juniors and seniors! Prom '89 was different from past proms in several ways. Some traditions stayed the same, however, such as going to Ft. Wayne for dinner. Unfortunately, the power went out in the northern part of Ft. Wayne and many couples had to use alternate plans for their dinner.

Some of the significant changes included the limousines escorting couples from the high school to the middle school. As the couples proceeded into the middle school, they were formally announced to the many friends and parents packed into the gym. There was also another Grand March in the middle of the prom for fellow classmates.

The theme for prom '89 was "In the Still of the Night." The middle school commons was decorated with black, silver, and white balloons and streamers. Prom king and queen were announced toward the end of the night. The lucky couple was Shelly Rugman and Mark Diehl. After a drawing for winners of some cash prises and a final dance, the formal part of prom came to an end.

Most couples returned home to change into more comfortable clothes. Some of the local businesses provided activities for after-prom. They were Pizza Hunt, Northway Cinema, and the bowling alley. For breakfast Auburn Mayor Dickman had a breakfast at his home. All in all, prom '89 holds many special memories.

Left Above: Selected by a vote of juniors and seniors, Shelly Rugman and Mark Diehl pose to be photographed as King and Queen.

The weekend of May 12-14 was a big one for students and teachers in the fine arts department because that was the culmination of Fine Arts Week. Starting Monday, art students began preparing their exhibits to be placed in the gym. Pictures and craft items had to be mounted on display boards so that they could be seen.

The exhibit was officially opened on Friday, when middle school students from the school district came to view the displays and to watch pottery and drawing demonstrations. All types of products were displayed including beautiful jewelry and some items from the woods and graphic arts students as well.

Friday evening the choral department took over with all three choirs presenting the more serious side of their musical talents. Choir awards were presented at the conclusion of the program.

Saturday night was jazz night in the auditorium with the jazz band and Jazz Annex presenting several of their numbers for those in attendance.

Displaying Talent

On Mothers' Day afternoon it was the band department's turn to be on stage. Both the concert and symphonic bands performed. A highlight was Jeff Funk playing his own composition "I Dedicate My Dream" which was selected as the class song for 1989. An awards ceremony followed the program.

For those persons who viewed the fine arts displays and attended any of the concerts, it was clear that DHS has many talented students.

Top: "Now what shall we put on this sheet of paper?" Chelsea Pinkerton and Nita Walker work on their display as they sit on the floor in the gym.

Some members of the class of 1989 really cleaned up on May 17. No, they didn't need a bucket of soapy water and a sponge. They simply attended the Awards Day Program in the auditorium and walked away with scholarships adding up to thousands of dollars.

Juniors, seniors, teachers, and family members attended in person while sophomores and freshmen listened on the PA. The students listed in the next column were named as four year honor students.

Like the helium balloons released during Corey Alguire's welcoming speech, the hopes of the graduating class were high as they went through DHS's twenty-second commencement. The ceremony was held at the C.E. Young Field at 2 P.M. on May 27. It was the first Saturday graduation ceremony and the second held outside. The weather was sunny, cool, and very windy.

The ceremony followed the traditional outline. The band played several numbers including "Pomp and Circumstance" for the processional. Class members who presented speeches were Matt Bowers, Invocation; Corey Alguire, Welcome; Paul Rahe, Intention; Roberta Wurm, Farewell; and Holly Woodworth, Benediction.

One highlight of the program was Kim Madajewski and Jeff Funk's performance of "I Dedicate My Dream," which was composed by Jeff and selected by his classmates as the Senior Song.

As Principal Douglas D. Fites read the Class Roll, members of the Board of Education awarded the diplomas, assisted by Superintendent Dr. James Watson. Several graduates could be seen checking to make sure that theirs was signed. Ten seniors earned a special academic diploma.

The day was especially busy for senior members of the softball team because their graduation was sandwiched between the semi-finals and finals of the East Noble sectional. The Barons won both games, so graduation day will be an especially memorable one for those girls as well as for the rest of the members of the Class of 1989.

Student Council

RULING

Student government is alive and well at DHS with teachers and enthusiastic students to lead the student body through an outstanding year.

Being leaders was what it was all about. Not everyone could undergo the pressure that was put on each member of the Student Council. Every member was expected to do his/her part in making the school year pass by smoothly yet with a lot of excitement. The Student Council gave their all with the help of their advisors Ms. McCullough and Mr. Branneman.

Throughout the year the Student Council tried to provide a forum for student expression, promote good relations throughout the school, develop positive attitudes and promote BARON SPIRIT. They sponsored the Sadie Hawkins Dance and two after-game dances.

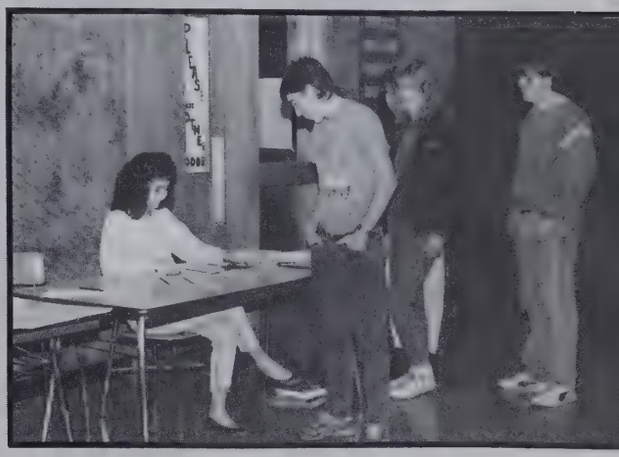
Not only did the Council help the school, they also sponsored the Campus Life Multi-Media Convo, the Focus on Health, and co-sponsored the Red Cross blood drive. One of the special projects was Adopt-A-kid in which ten Student Council members volunteered to adopt one of the elementary students. There were two from East Auburn, three from McIntosh, three from McKenney, and two from Waterloo. In addition to other activities that were planned, the Council members and elementary students visited each other's schools for lunch time.

The Council also started an "Ask the Principal Committee" attempting to develop better communications with the administration.

Frank Souder and Brian Henderson help Kirk Fee discover what his vital statistics are as part of the Focus on Health program.

Student Council members and nearly sixty elementary students take part in a relay race as part of the Adopt-A-Kid Christmas party.

Mr. Jan David receives a flower and a cupcake from Amy Brook and Libby Barry as part of the Council's Teacher Appreciation Day.



As Lana Seiler checks off their names, these students (above) wait to take part in the mock election, which was won by George Bush.

"Now let's see. Is this the right spot?" Randy Westbrook waits patiently as the nurse prepares him to be a blood donor.

Work in the guidance office involves a wide variety of projects, as worker Vicki Snow, above, can tell you.

Letterwinners, Student Service

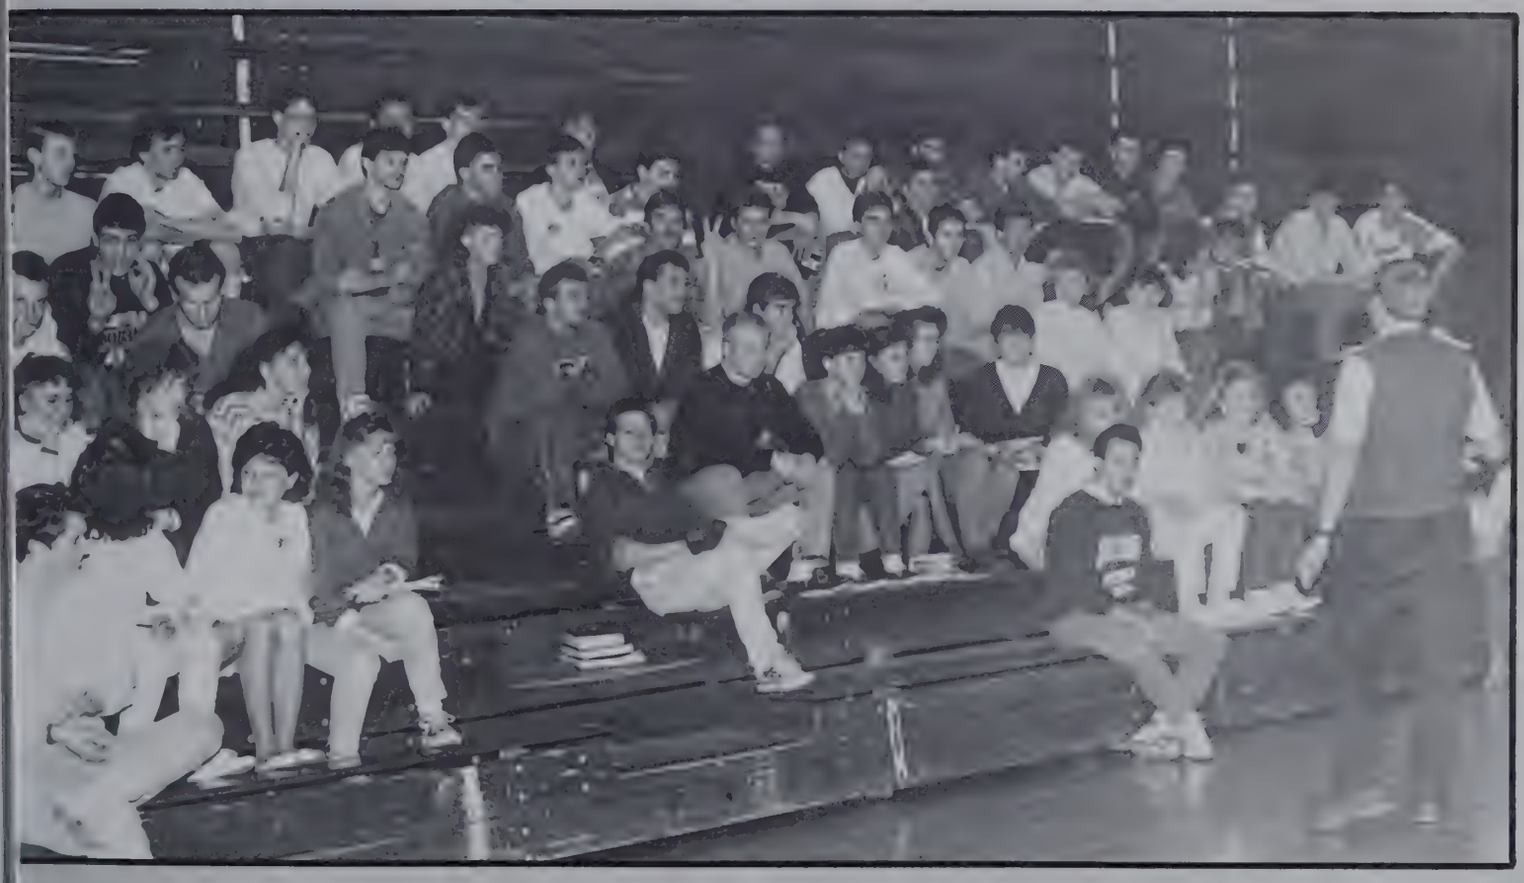
SERVING

Being of service to their school is the primary purpose for student service workers and members of the Letterwinners Club. Student Service technically is not a club because it does not hold meetings and it does not elect officers. It does, however, give students a chance to feel that they are contributing to their school by helping in any number of areas.

Some students work in the offices, as teacher's helpers, and as library and audio visual assistants. Another benefit of student service is the chance to escape study hall. At the end of the year, awards are given to workers based on the number of hours of service that they have given.

The Letterwinners Club is primarily a money-making organization for the purpose of providing funds for projects that might otherwise not happen. They operate the concession stands at all home basketball games. This year's funds were spent in part on the picture project for the halls and a video camera to be used mainly for practice situations. Officers were president Mike Sutton, vice-president Tom Findley, and secretary-treasurer Ken Jones. Sponsors were Mr. Dick McKean and Mr. Bill Jones.

Letterwinner members earn points by working and attending meetings. The top six winners were awarded a special dinner. Winners were Matt Bishop, Tom Kessler, Renee Smith, Jeff Bell, Adam Cain, and Brent Bailey.



At least some of the Letterwinners Club members seem to be paying attention as Mr. McKean goes over the plans for the upcoming games.

Spanish, French Clubs

TALKING

Learning a different language is always fun, especially if there's a club to belong to. The Spanish and French Clubs gave students that chance. Both clubs sold concessions, sponsored a dance, had car washes, and awarded scholarships.

The Spanish Club visited Betz Nursing Home for Christmas and Valentines Days. They also had two field trips to Fort Wayne for Spanish presentations. Officers of the Spanish Club were Josh Durst, President; Scott Allison, Vice-President; Eric Tomaszewski, Secretary; and Tyler Barhydt, Treasurer.

Officers of the French Club were Chris Blotkamp, President; Mat Bowers, Vice-President; Sarah Grimm, Secretary; and Amy Brook, Treasurer. The club visited two French restaurants and also viewed "Three Men and a Baby" in French. They had a Christmas party, sponsored the Foreign Language Banquet, sold carnations for Valentines Day, and had a sweatshirt designing contest, won by freshman Sally Peart.

First place at the IPFW Foreign Language Festival was earned in French by Jenny Krill, Level II Declamation; Jenny Krill and Carleen Lau, Level II Non-stop Conversation; Jenny Krill, Anne Roberts, Tammy Buss, and Jenny Wleklinski, Level II Knowledge Bowl.

Winning in Spanish were Lisa Ziarnko, Level III Poetry; Laura Wertman and Matt Disch, Level III Non-stop conversation; Dana Ungemach and John Haney, Level II Scrabble; and Jason Leffel and Charles Kaduk in Level I Scrabble.

The Spanish Club skit at the Foreign Language Banquet told a story about a chain reaction. The members above are portraying three couples attending a movie theater: Shannon Hack, Richard Drew, Laurie Clevenger, Scott Allison, Lisa Pyck, and Matt Disch.

German Club, Language Banquet

EATING

Every spring the three foreign language clubs join forces for the Foreign Language Banquet. Students from the three clubs bring food representative of their respective cultures to share with one another. The banquet, held on March 30, featured skits by the Spanish and German Clubs and some contests sponsored by the French Club.

The German Club was active throughout the year. The officers were Paul Rahe, President; Jason Phillips, Vice-President; Greg Wallace, Secretary; and Leigh Bard, Treasurer. They directed several fund raising activities including football and baseball concessions, basketball coat check, and an after-game dance. This helped to finance the scholarships that the club awarded in May.

In August some German students traveled to Europe and in April even more went to Frankenmuth, Michigan. In November the club provided a "Germanfest" for the Northeast Center's Annual Volunteer Dinner, including entertainment, lessons, and decor. In December they sponsored a Christmas Pary with German Clubs from Hamilton, Leo, and Garrett in attendance.

Many German Club members took part in the IPFW Foreign Language Festival on April 15. First place winners were Angie Kelleher in Level III Declamation; Beth Brechbill in Level III Scrambled Words; Steve Rynearson and Greg Wallace in Non-Stop Conversation Level II and Scrabble Level II; and Andrew Kruse in Declamation II and Vocabulary Bee Level II. The competition involved about 1,000 students representing 36 schools.

Riding for the Spanish Club, Kristen Jackemeyer pedals fast to try to win the exercise bicycle race at the Foreign Language Banquet.

Brigadiers

DANCING

Brigadiers, the auxiliary corps for the Baron Brigade, had a busy year. The Brigadiers worked all year round with only one month off in the summer.

This past school year the Brigadiers performed parts from the Broadway show CATS. The Brigadiers really liked doing this particular show. They also performed in many competitions during the fall, including the ISSMA marching competitions.

Over the Christmas break they traveled with the Baron Brigade to Florida to march in the Citrus Bowl Parade. They also marched in a parade in Disney World.

After all the excitement was over from the Florida trip, they continued working on their half-time shows for the basketball games. They performed at most of the games including the Christmas show. Then came spring time and the Brigadiers were still going strong. After basketball season they worked on routines for the Baron Revue.

Some of the more popular skits performed in the Baron Revue were "Be-a-Brig" and "Faculty Feud," which was performed by the 4 O'clock Club. The songs which the Brigadiers performed were "Throwdown," "I Saw Him Standing There," La Bamba," "The Way You Make Me Feel," and "Jupiter."

This year brought a new face. Miss Anglin, a new math teacher, was the new Brigadier director. Helping Miss Anglin was captain Chris Blotkamp. The co-captains were Shelly Browand, Marsha Hart, and Linda Prosser.

Speech Team

SPEAKING

With a seventh place finish in the state meet and one state champ, the Speech Team had a successful year. Coach Gerry Nagel said, "It was the best year all around." Their best finish of the year was first place out of 18 teams at the Concord Invitational. They placed third out of 35 at Columbia City and third out of 26 at Huntington North. Fourth place finishes were gained at DeKalb, Columbia City, and Valparaiso.

At the IHSFA Sectional, the Baron speakers placed second and qualified 22 for the regional, where the team placed third. Nine Barons advanced from the regional to the state meet, where DHS scored enough points to place seventh in the state. Top individuals at state were Paul Dapp, First in Discussion; Dave Kennedy, Third in Humorous Interp, and John Bry, Sixth in Humorous Interp.

On December 2nd and 3rd, there were three finalists from DeKalb at the Bradley University Midwest High School Tournament: Paul Rahe, Beth Brechbill, and Dave Kennedy.

Baron speakers also took part in the NFL District Tournament and Bob Hardy qualified for the national tournament in USA Extemp. Paul Rahe qualified for the NFL National Congress by winning the Outstanding Speaker Award in a meet at Valparaiso on April 15.

All together, 36 students participated in competitive speech activities. The team was coached by Mr. Gary Nagel, Mrs. Janet Nagel, and Mr. Bruce Buttermore.

SADD, Ski Club, NHS

HELPING

SADD, in its fourth year at DHS, is a group of caring students who try to keep students who get drunk off the roads. It sponsored hotlines for homecoming, prom, and graduation. The sponsors were Mrs. Tita Gordon and Mrs. Marilyn Gearhart. The officers were Aaron Ginder, President, and Traci Surber, Secretary. SADD had car washes and bake sales. They attended various conferences and gave a program for the middle school about the dangers of drinking and driving. On May 20, SADD members took a trip to Cedar Point.

The Ski Club was for students who enjoy the sport of downhill skiing. They made 7 trips to Timber-Ridge Ski Resort in Michigan on Thursday evenings. They also had a pizza party. Ski Club officers were Dusty Ousley, President; Frank Souder,Vice-President; Lisa Rieke, Secretary, and Tim Petre, Treasurer.

On February 16 two skiers were injured in falls on the snow. While Paul Richardson's injuries were slight, Josh Hower spent six hours in a Kalamazoo hospital for tests after his mild concussion.

The National Honor Society is devoted to service. Its officers were Paul Rahe, President; Michelle Jones,Vice-President; Lara Shultz, Secretary; and Deanna Gaietto, Treasurer. Mrs. Paula Fike was the sponsor of NHS. They sponsored a food drive for the Red Cross, sold senior T-shirts, and had a Bowl-a-thon. New members of the National Honor Society are selected on their qualifications based on character, scholarship, leadership, and service.

Sitting on the edge of the stage, Aaron Ginder, President of Students Against Driving Drunk, conducts a meeting in the auditorium.

FEA, Art Club

LEARNING

Among the clubs that award a scholarship to one of their graduating members are the Art Club and Future Educators in Action. The Art Club tries to give those students who have a strong interest in art an opportunity to expand their interest through art workshops, field trips, and scholarship information.

Activities of the Art Club were coordinated by the Executive Council consisting of Mitch Kessler, Lori Depew, Chelsea Eberly, Lisa Rieke, and Frank Souder. For fund raising, Art Club members painted windows in downtown Auburn during the holiday season. The money was used for a scholarship for a senior planning a career in art or an art-related field.

In the spring the Art Club sponsored an art workshop for fifth graders. Members conducted teaching sessions in both clay and drawing.

Teaching was the major focus of the FEA. Its officers were Amy Boger, President; Becky Barnhart, Vice-President; and Kathy Myers, Secretary-Treasurer. FEA had the dual purposes of encouraging future education, especially into some area of teaching, and to be of service to the school and to the community.

The Elfie program and numerous after-school teacher appreciation get-togethers were FEA projects to recognize teachers as was the teacher of the month program.

A bake sale provided funds for a scholarship. FEA also did cadet teaching and offered tutoring.

FFA, FHA

PLANNING

Two clubs with a "future" are the Future Farmers and Future Homemakers of America. FFA's purpose is to develop leadership, cooperation, and citizenship.

The FFA took part in soils, dairy, and livestock judging contests. They placed first in the district tractor trouble shooting contest and went to state farm management and ag mechanics and welding contests.

Of 14 entries for Proficiency Awards, four placed first and advanced to state as did eight out of 22 in leadership contests. The chapter took first place in the district can drive — both team and individual.

The FFA had a corn plot on the land lab that was part of a county-wide project and sponsored a Young McDonald's farm animal display at the county fair. They took part in District III officer training, went to the Indy Tractor Pull and the Louisville Farm Machinery Show and the state FFA convention. Lisa Hefty attended a Leadership Training Conference in Washington, D.C.

Future Homemakers officers were Pam Christlieb, President; Laura Brammer, Vice-President; Ginger Rottger, Secretary; Heather McDonald, Treasurer; and Angie Eldridge, Historian.

FHA members attended two district meetings and donated equipment to the home ec department with funds from their money-making project. They also held a banquet in the spring.

To encourage personal growth, leadership development, family and community involvement and understanding the dual roles of men and women are among the purpose and goals of FHA.

SABER, Shield

TELLING

Journalism is alive and well at DHS. The two major publications are the newspaper, the Baron Shield, and the yearbook, the Saber. Although these publications are produced in part by journalism classes geared toward either the newspaper or the yearbook, they are also extra-curricular activities.

The Baron Shield staff was responsible for reporting, writing, editing, typing, arranging, and publishing the nine issues of the newspaper. It averaged twenty pages per issue. In addition, the staff members contacted local merchants and made arrangements for over ninety ads featured in the paper. These ranged from camera-ready copy to that generated by students.

Two parties, one each semester, gave the staff members a chance to relax and have some fun. Staff members included Brian McCoy, Editor-in-Chief; Lisa Ziarnko, Business Manager; Jeff Brosius and Matt Wheeler, Assistant Editors; Melody Bowker and Jeff Burkhart, Lay-out Editors; Janell McMaken, Photography Editor; Jeremy Miller, Art Editor; Wes Cox, Poetry Editor; Vicki Collins, Circulation Manager; Dave Kurtz, Sports Editor; and Amy Manon and Dean Houser, Feature Editors.

The staff of the 1989 Saber did everything necessary to produce this yearbook. The theme was selected and the cover was designed. Pictures were taken, developed, and printed. The pages were planned, ads were sold, and subscriptions were taken. Information was gathered, copy was written, and deadlines were (usually) met. We hope that you like the results.

Editor-in-Chief of the Baron Shield, Brian McCoy works on the newspaper's word processor trying to meet the next deadline.

Technology Awaits Us

The world is becoming more and more complicated. Students who deal with tomorrow's technology will have an advantage. Providing some of the necessary tools is one of the goals of both the science and math departments. All students are required to have four credits in each department in order to graduate.

The seven math teachers provide students with training in subjects ranging from General Math I, which helps them develop their skill in basic problem solving, to Calculus, which is a college level course available only to seniors.

Six faculty members comprise the science faculty. The classes cover both the life science and physical science areas and students must have two credits in each area.

The science department also sponsored the science fair. The local winners in the senior division were Renee Smith, John Haney, and Clayton Schnelker. Ninth grade winners were Scott Deetz, Louis Wolfe, and James Kessler.

Communicating In Many Languages

Communication is a skill that is needed by everyone. There are two academic departments that are devoted to helping students improve themselves in this all-important life skill.

One of the largest departments is the English department. One reason is because each student is required to take four years of English. For the first two years, students take general English classes which are divided into academic, standard, and basic levels. Then for the last two years they can elect to remain in the generalized type of class or take specialized classes ranging from literature to speech and composition.

Foreign language classes are also very popular. There is a choice of German, French, and Spanish. Within the foreign language classes the students not only learn to speak a different language, they also learn the customs and traditions.

The language department did many projects throughout the year. For example, the Spanish III class went to the elementary schools to teach basic Spanish. German IV students visited McIntosh twice a week to help the students there learn basic German.

All in all, the language department is a very important and busy one.

Building To Learn

The department which probably comes closest to preparing students directly for employment is the Vocational Department. This is where students build in order to learn.

The three years of Agri-Business classes, taught by Mr. Dave Gurtner, provided the principles of agricultural production in the areas of crops and livestock. They included book work and hands-on experience. Agri-mechanics was the other ag class.

The three other vocational classes were ones that met for three hours a day and provided both intense and extensive experience. Auto mechanics students gained employable skills under the expert guidance of Mr. Van Smith. Cars and trucks of both students and faculty alike could get tender loving care in the a.m. shop.

Vocational Graphic Arts, under Mr. Jim Murdock, and Building Trades, under Mr. Walt Roberts, complete the list. Graphic arts students did much of the printing for the school district and the building trades class built a house, a three bedroom home on Baron Court in Auburn.

Jeff Cook just loves to work on cars so he really enjoys Auto Mechanics class.

Learning To Build

The Practical Arts Department is made up of two areas which are Industrial Arts and Vocational Arts. Teachers in the Industrial Arts area are Tony Konieczki, Van Smith, Don Myers, Steve Ritenour, and Jim Murdock. Robert Voelkel is the department chairman who supervises both Industrial and Vocational Arts.

The Industrial Arts classes include metals, woods, drafting, and electricity. Power mechanics and basic graphics are also included with those. The latter two classes were taught to students who planned later on to take the vocational classes in those same areas.

Industrial Arts classes give students the opportunity to use their hands and to learn many skills which will be useful in the future, such as building and repairing.

Various projects were made in the woods classes. In Woods I, for example, students made salt and pepper shakers and a small cabinet. One of the students in electricity class made a strobe light.

During metals class, students learn everything about sheet metal and foundry work. Drafting and architectural drafting were to help students learn how to draw up plans and prepare drawings that could be used to construct a building or house. Drafting could also be used in various jobs in industry.

Jeff Griggs, above, works on his lathe project for his metals class.

Using a compass to make sure everything is in proportion is drafting student Dan Harper.

Econ Company Wins In JA

When the school years end, DHS students must be prepared for their future. Business and Social Studies are just a small part of their schedules with that goal in mind.

For Barons taking business courses, this most likely meant that they were interested in some type of business career. The courses available were Accounting, Recordkeeping, Business Law, Typing and Personal Typing, Shorthand, General Business, and Office Practice.

In the all-important area of computers, there were Computer Literacy and Computer Programming. All of these courses were electives.

The Social Studies department had both elective and required courses. Electives were Psychology and Advanced Psychology, Sociology, Social Problems, World History, and Exploratory Teaching.

Juniors were required to take U.S. History and seniors must take Government and Economics.

B.D.O.A. Co., Inc., representing the Economics classes, was the winner at the Northeastern Indiana Junior Achievement Computer Simulation Competition. Company members were Brian Henderson, Scott Tarlton, and Bob Hardy. They won a traveling trophy and $150.

Developing Mental, Physical Fitness

Drivers education and health classes are both required for the freshmen. The health class emphasizes the interests and problems of teenagers. Some of the main areas studied were tobacco, alcohol and alcoholics, death and dying, suicide, stress, and mental health.

Drivers ed is designed to help students earn some knowledge and skills to become safe drivers. Some of the materials used in drivers ed class are films from the Motor Vehicles Defensive Driving Course. The class also has to safety inspect several cars.

Girls and boys physical education classes are a full year course required for the sophomores. Phys ed is to help students obtain a better understanding of physical fitness. This also includes knowledge of rules and techniques involved in many sports.

Quest, offered to sophomores through seniors, is based mostly on class discussion. The class covers topics such as self-concept, feelings, family, career and financial goals, and parenting. One important part of the Quest class was that the class kept a written journal.

Can You Learn Creativity?

Both the art and home ec departments had classes in which students were often involved with making something. With the exception of Art History, production was the general goal in the art classes.

The art department offered two full years of basic art in which the student had a chance to explore many aspects ranging from basic design to sculpture. Other students were enrolled in specialized classes including Commercial Design, Ceramics, Jewelry and Crafts, and Drawing and Painting. Many outstanding works of art were produced under the guidance of Mrs. Jan Nagel and Mrs. Andrea VanHorne.

Mrs. Betty Stomm had the responsibility of teaching all of the home ec classes. There were three semesters of foods classes, two of clothing, in addition to Housing, Family Relations, and Child Development.

Nearly every aspect of being a homemaker in today's world was studied in these classes even including the complete planning of a wedding, advanced nutrition, and interior decoration.

Brigade Makes Orlando Trip

The Baron Brigade spent a busy year, ending with the trip over Christmas break to march in the Citrus Bowl Parade and at Disney World. It all started with hard work in the summer perfecting the field show based on the musical "Cats."

The Brigade earned many honors including the following: 1st in Class B at the Whitko Symphony of Sound; 5th in Class B at the Concord Invitational; 4th in Class AA at East Noble's Band-O-Rama; 3rd in Division 1, Class B at ISSMA District; 1st in Class B at Homestead's Festival of Bands; and 9th at ISSMA Regional. They also placed 14th at State in Class B and 28th in the MBA Grand Nationals held at the Pontiac Silver Dome.

The Brigade also entered several parades, always placing first: Bluffton Street Fair; DeKalb Fair; and Decatur Calithumpian Parade. In several of the competitions the Brigade was honored for having Best Music, Best Marching, and Best General Effect. The Drum Majors were Scott Allison, Chad Appleman, and Corey Alguire.

Band members switched emphasis in the winter to form the Pep Band, which tried to keep the level of enthusiasm up at the home basketball games.

Trip Delays Concert Season

Concert season for band members usually starts right after football season is over and the Baron Brigade has finished its marching performances. This year was different. Because of the Brigade's trip to Florida's Citrus Bowl during the Christmas vacation, concert season had to be delayed. Because of this delay, the band department presented only one major concert. It was held on a Sunday afternoon during Fine Arts week in May.

Although all band members were combined for marching, they were divided for concert purposes. The Symphonic Band, which met during fifth hour, displayed its expert musicianship by earning a Division I rating in the ISSMA contest. Earning a Division II rating was the Concert Band, which met during fourth hour for practice.

The Jazz Band was composed of volunteer musicians and met before and/or after school. This group was the most active of the bands, performing for various community activities such as dinners, parties, and club meetings. Other public performances included the Baron Revue, a Big Band Dinner/Dance, and the "Evening of Jazz" concert in May. In the ISSMA contest, the Jazz Band got a Division II rating.

Choir Makes The Connection

If you ventured into the music hall during second hour, chances are you would have heard some terrific vocal music coming from room 148, because that is the period when the show choir met. However, one hour a day was often not enough for these energetic students, as they also practiced after school hours.

The premier performing group at DHS, the show choir, also called the Classic Connection, did a lot of travelling throughout the year. Among the events they took part in were the Bluffton and DeKalb fairs; workshops and competitions at Bellmont, Chesterton, Kankakee, Watseka, and Mt. Zion.

The show choir went to Chicago for the Showstoppers National Invitational and placed 4th at Luers and 2nd at Ohio Northern. They earned a first place rating in the ISSMA, in addition to performing for many community events.

The Jazz Annex went to the Western Michigan Jazz Festival in addition to presenting several Christmas shows and performed with Gold Company and Janice Siegal.

Groups Perform For Community

Besides Show Choir and the Jazz Choir, the choral department included the Concert Choir and the Girls' Choir. All choirs were under the direction of Mrs. Shelley Johnson. She was assisted during the second semester by a student teacher from Ball State University, Mr. David Boggs. A native of Lagrange, Indiana, he graduated from Lakeland High School.

The choirs presented three major concerts during the year: the Christmas concert, the spring concert, and the Pops concert. The latter two were both near the end of May and gave the students a chance to show how much they'd developed their talents. Throughout the year, both the Concert and Girls' choir appeared before various clubs and meetings in the area.

The Concert Choir, which met during third hour, received a Division I rating at the spring ISSMA contest. They found that "Americana" was perhaps their most difficult number, while their favorite one was "Jailhouse Rock."

The Girls' Choir, which met sixth hour, also received a Division I rating in the ISSMA contest. Their most challenging number was called "Every Night," while "Crackers" was the song that they had the most fun with.

Conference Championship Highlights Season

As the season opened with underclassmen in many key slots, Coach Dale Hummer figured success to be a year away. So the undefeated regular season came as a pleasant surprise. So did the NEIAC championship.

The team dominated its opponents in nearly every category, averaging 327 yards per game while allowing only 170. The attack was about 2-1 in favor of the rush, with 97 first downs gained on the ground, 50 via the pass, and 14 by penalty. For touchdowns, 32 were scored on the rush, 5 by pass, and 3 on returns.

Individuals statistics were largely dominated by underclassmen. The two leading rushers were juniors Tom Findley (1173 yards and 16 TD's) and Thad Nixon (910 yards and 12 TD's). The leading pass receivers were senior Layton John (510 yards) and Findley (270 yards). Junior quarterback Erik Weber completed 46% of his passes for 1004 yards. He was intercepted seven times.

The defense was also a strong Baron asset, led by Bryan Bergner with 58 solo tackles and 58 assists. Findley, with 43 solos and 35 assists, Jeff Bell (26, 40), and Cal Bowers (14, 40) were also outstanding defensive players.

Freshmen, Reserves Have Difficult Year

While the varsity teams in both football and volleyball had highly successful seasons, the junior varsity and freshman editions found themselves with a real struggle throughout most of the season. In both sports, many of the team leaders on the varsity level were underclassmen so that the junior varsity coaches found themselves without some of the talent they might have otherwise had.

For the football junior varsity and freshman teams, few statistics were kept because the coaches wanted the emphasis at that level to be on development and improvement on an individual basis from game to game and not on accumulating numbers throughout the season. They felt that their young players did show improvement as the season progressed.

The volleyball teams also improved during the season. Starting out slow, the JV's progressively improved, ending their season with a second place finish in the Westview JV Invitational, defeating Lakeland and East Noble before losing to Northridge, Julie McKean and Jenny Young were the leading hitters. Denise Swogger led the setting while Anna Holben was the leading server.

Six In A Row Sets New Record

Six years in a row! That is how long the Baron volleyball team has dominated the local sectional as champs. However, that was not their only accomplishment in 1988. Their 33-2 season established a new school record for most wins, and their 7-0 record in the conference made them the undisputed champs of the NEIAC. They also won the Elmhurst and Whitko Invitationals.

Three Barons were named to the first team in the conference: Lisa Hefty, Heather Rekeweg, and Lori Pomeroy. They were joined by Tisha Yarlot, selected for the second team.

As might be expected, several players compiled some impressive individual stats. Heather Rekeweg had a school record 343 kills, followed by Lori Pomeroy (221) and Tisha Yarlot (204). A second school record was established by Lisa Hefty with her 745 assists.

Other statistical leaders included the following: in digs: Pomeroy (206), Tara Stayer (176), Rekeweg (152), and Hefty (135); in aces: Pomeroy (79), Yarlot (57), and Stayer (37); and in blocks, Rekeweg (154 good, 69 stuffs), Pomeroy (120 good, 43 stuffs), and Amy Weaver (80 good, 25 stuffs).

Weimer Is Champ At North Side Invitational

Doing much better outside their conference than in it, the Baron boys' tennis team had an 11-6 season. Five of their six losses were to NEIAC opponents, the final one being to East Noble in the sectional finals.

In invitationals they finished second out of eight teams to East Noble in the rain-shortened DeKalb Invitational and second to North Side in the four-team North Side Invitational, where Chad Weimer won the championship in number three singles.

The most productive point earners for the Barons were the senior pair at number two doubles, Todd Muzzillo and Jeff Warner. They ended their final season of high school play with outstanding records of 20-2. Usually playing number one doubles was the junior team of Kevin Neumann (13-8) and Mark Miller (14-7).

There were four players who specialized in singles play, with each of them playing at number one singles at some time during the year. Senior Jamie Bonecutter played the most total matches and finished with a 12-9 record, followed by Chad Weimer (12-8), Wes Oswalt (6-6), and Rod Tester (2-7).

The large reserve team was very successful, winning most of their matches.

Senior Todd Muzzillo, who with his doubles partner Jeff Warner had an outstanding 20-2 season record, returns the ball over the net.

Teixeira Returns To Difficult Task

When Richard Teixeira, himelf a former DHS cross country runner, took over as coach, he faced a difficult task. The team was young, but there was a nucleus of runners left from the previous year, headed by Chris Dove, out during the early part of the season due to injury.

Cross country is a 5,000 meter race. Team points are the total of place numbers of each team's first five finishers. Low total wins. Since courses vary, times from different races can't always be compared. The best time was posted by Dove in 16:16 at West Noble. Paul Richardson's best time of 16:55 was in the Snider Classic, where he placed in the top 25. Three others had a personal best under eighteen minutes: Tom Fischer (17:31 at West Noble), John Reinoehl (17:40 against Angola), and Dirk Andres (17:57 at Manchester). Running only early in the year, Bryan Sorg made the greatest improvement in his time — by one minute and 33 seconds.

The harriers had a 5-4 dual meet record. Their best finish otherwise was third place in the NEIAC. A good omen for the future was a fourth place finish at the Manchester Invitational in the freshman/sophomore race.

Traditions Grow Slowly

Traditions take a long time to build, especially winning traditions in minor sports where there is little recognition or glory. Girls' cross country and golf have had trouble establishing themselves at DHS.

Girls' cross country had just three runners, which was not enough to post team scores, so they had to enter each race as individuals. The best time of the year (18:25) was posted by sophomore Laurie Dendinger at the Manchester Invitational. Senior Leigh Bard ran the sectional course in 19:54 for her best time, and junior Amy Brook ran her best race of 20:19 in the conference meet at Shoaff Park.

The young girls' golf team started work in the summer trying to develop their skills. Selected as the most valuable player was junior Jenny Detrick, also named Honorable Mention on the NEIAC team. Her best 9 hole score was a 56 on the front nine at the Carroll Sectional played at Colonial Oaks, where the girls finished ninth out of ten teams.

Cheerleader Squads Help Add Spirit

Being a DeKalb cheerleader is not as easy as it seems to be. The 1988-89 cheerleaders put a lot of time and energy into their routines and chants. Because of this, DHS has chosen two squade of cheerleaders. One squad is for football and the other is for basketball. Each squad is separated into three groups: freshmen, reserves, and varsity.

The cheerleaders start off in the summer by practicing from 6 to 8 in the morning to prepare for competitions. In the fall the girls sponsored a cheerleading clinic, held on Saturdays, to help the elementary students learn more about cheerleading.

Throughout the year many of the cheerleader activities were under the dedicated supervision of Mr. Jed Freels.

Regional Trip Caps Disappointing Season

Winning the sectional for the third year in a row was, without a doubt, the highlight of the varsity season. Up until then it had been a season of disappointment and frustration. The Barons then surprised many by forcing Whitko into overtime before losing the opening game of the regional.

Team statistics included 43.8 percent from the field. They made only 26.1 percent on three-point attempts. Free throw shooting, usually a trademark, was a disappointing 58.8. The opponents out-rebounded the Barons 651 to 620.

Three Barons shot over 50 percent from the field. Senior Todd Muzzillo, who had an outstanding day at the regional, made over 64 percent of his shots. The others were Adam Cain (52.3) and Shannon Carey (51.7). Only two had over 70 percent from the line: Muzzillo (72) and Todd McAfee (71.7). Leading scorers were Ron Dobson and Erik Weber with 242 each and John Ulm with 218. Other team leaders were Ulm with 90 rebounds, Dobson with 79 assists, and McAfee with 42 steals.

Junior Varsity, Sophs, Frosh Break Even

The boys' teams below the varsity level had a combined 21-21 record, with only the junior varsity being on the positive side. The reserves outshot their opponents from both the field (45.6) and the free throw line (67.0) but were out-rebounded 409 to 458.

The leading scorer for the reserves was Brad Wright, who averaged 11.1 points for a total of 224. Scott Price had 196 points. These same two players were the leading rebounders with 94 and 61 respectively. Price was the assist leader with 67. Nick Keller had 42 assists.

The sophomores played a very abbreviated schedule of only five games. They defeated Hamilton (59-32) and Garrett (44-42) and lost to Northrop (47-49 OT), Snider (34-43), and Bellmont (42-47).

While the freshman "A" team had a losing season, the "B" team had 8 wins and 5 losses. Three freshmen scored over 100 points: Tim Holwerda (186), Matt Bechdol (171), and Brent Bailey (139). Other statistical leaders for the freshmen included Bailey in assists (37) and Holwerda in blocked shots (19). The freshmen hit 44 percent of their field goal attempts and only 56 percent of their free throws.

Freshman Matt Bechdol (40), who hit 45 percent of his shots for the season, tried to score two points against Carroll.

Pomeroy Leads Team To Sectional Win

For many schools, losing a player like MaChelle Joseph would have meant a down season the following year. Not so for the Lady Barrons. While Joseph went on to success at Purdue University, her former teammates also had success, recording an 18-5 season and winning their own holiday tourney and the sectional title. For the season the team shot 40 percent from the field and 59 percent from the line.

The leading scorer was senior Lori Pomeroy, a strong inside player. She scored 322 points, averaging 14 points per game. Pomeroy shot 46 percent from the field and 62 percent from the line. She also had a team-high 195 rebounds. Giving her some help inside was sophomore Amy Weaver, who had 149 rebounds. Weaver shot an outstanding 57 percent on field goals to help her 12.2 points per game.

The assignment to lead the team from the guard position fell to junior Lisa Hefty, who had 81 assists and 45 steals in addition to her 9.3 points per game.

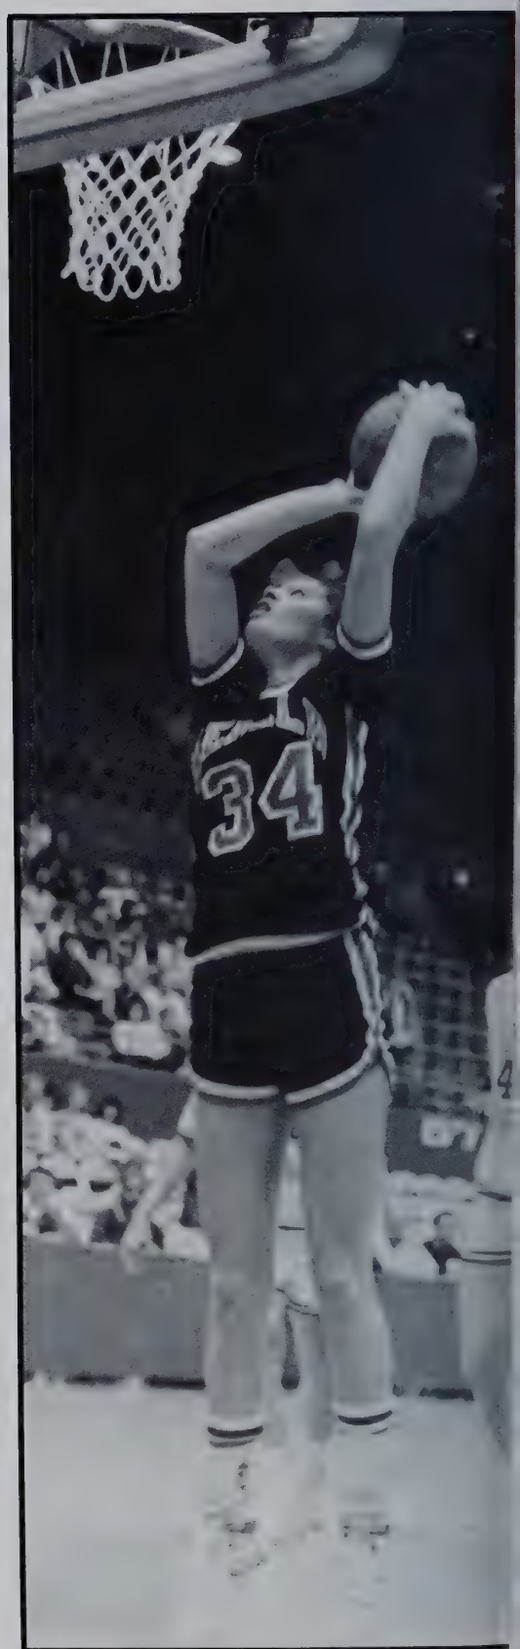
Leading scorer and rebounder, senior Lori Pomeroy uses her inside strength to try to score against Columbia City for the NEIAC championship.



Averaging 6.8 points, Angie Quickery tries a shot. She had 100 rebounds, 39 assists and 41 steals in her junior year for the Lady Barons.

Close Doesn't Count In Basketball

Just a few more points in the right places could have made the junior varsity Lady Barons' season much more successful because four of their seven losses were by a total of only eight points. They scored 476 total points to the opponents' 423. A strength for the team was rebounding with 384 compared to 256 for the opposition. Shooting accuracy was a weakness as the reserves tallied only 30 percent from the field and 49 percent from the line.

Leading scorer was Sarah Schmidt with 120 points. She was backed up by Kerrie Quickery with 84 and Joy Kroemer with 81. Kroemer also saw some varsity action, especially near the end of the season. Schmidt also had the most rebounds (115), backed up by Quickery (57) and Kelly Franks (56).

The freshman team had limited success, winning the consolation games of the Prairie Heights and North Side tourneys over Leo and Carroll. Suzanne Reese was the leading scorer with 6.9 points per game for 118 total points. The other top point scorers were Lisa Wrona with 106 and Michelle Cashdollar with 73.

Hoping that she will be able to add some points to the freshman team's total is Shelly Maugherman, who scored 34 season points.

Bishop Leads Youthful Team Through Season

The gymnastics team was very young, with only one varsity person above the tenth grade. Angie Bishop had the responsibility of giving senior leadership to her younger teammates.

The reserves and varsity combined broke the school record of 13 no-fall beam routines set in 1987. The new mark was 18. Angie Bishop added to this total as she established a new school record of seven no-falls in one season. On the reserve level, Jennifer Barnhart broke the previous all-around record of 21.8 by scoring 23.5 in the meet against Lakeland.

Honorable mention in the NEIAC went to Bishop, who placed 2nd on beam, 8th on vault, and 5th all-around. Shelby Davidson was 7th on beam, 8th on floor, and 6th all-around. Bishop placed 4th on beam in the sectional to advance to regional competition.

Worman Is Fifth Baron At State

Although the team did not have a winning season, some individual wrestlers did quite well, with 112 pounder Richard Worman advancing to the state, where he lost his first match to Brady French of Evansville Reitz. Chad Saucedo (130 pounds) and Cal Bowers (heavyweight) also advanced to the Goshen semi-state. On total points scored in dual meets, the Barons won 448 to 447.

Two Barons won championships in tournaments. Worman placed first at Woodlan and in the NEIAC while Bowers won at both East Noble and in the NEIAC, in which the Barons finished third behind Bellmont and New Haven.

Worman, at 26-5, had the best record. Other records for the season included Fastest Fall, Bowers (9 seconds); Most Falls, Bowers (23); Most Decisions, Saucedo and Eric Sanders (7); Most Points Scored, Worman (320); Most Takedowns, Bowers (30); Most Reversals, Saucedo (21); Most Escapes, Terrie Blackburn (18); Most 2 Point Near Falls, Sanders (11); and Most 3 Point Near Falls, Saucedo (13).

The junior varsity record was 5-2 with Chad Carper having a 4-0 record and Jeremy Bowers recording a fall in 19 seconds.

Dove Makes State In 1600 Meters

With the large turn-out for boys track, Coach Dick Boyd had a lot of depth to work with. The reserve team had a 9-2 record, losing only to Columbia City and Homestead. But they defeated both of those teams by placing first at the Concordia Relays.

On the varsity level, one new school record was set. Josh Hower established a mark of 51.2 seconds in the 400 meter dash at the Fort Wayne sectional, but this was not good enough to place in the fast field. Barons who advanced to the regional were Chris Dove with a second place in the 1600 and Cal Bowers, fourth place in shot put. Also scoring points at sectional were Kirk Sells, with a sixth place finish in both hurdle events; Paul Richardson, fifth place in the 3200; and Stan Shipe, sixth in shot put.

In the regional meet, Chris Dove advanced to state by placing fourth with a time of 4:26.52 in the 1600 meters. The first place time was 4:25.04. Cal Bowers just missed going to state when his throw of 52'1½" placed him sixth.

Working throughout the season to improve his technique, freshman Collier Cannon pushes up in the pole vault. His best vault was 11 feet.

As Bryon Bailey in the background tries to catch up, Kirk Sells (right) sails to another win in the high hurdles.

Senior Chris Dove (below) steps out in running his specialty, the 1600 meter run. Chris went to state in this event.

Getting himself mentally prepared for the throw is junior Stan Shipe. Stan's season best was 139 feet at the Carroll Relays.

Making it over with plenty of room to spare is freshman Doug Kelley, above. Doug's best jump of the year was 5 feet 10 inches.

Putting her whole body into the effort, senior Shelly Rugman throws the discus. Her season best was a toss of 109 feet.

Reaching out for the finish line in the 200 meter dash, Sarah Miller is narrowly beaten by teammate Leigh Bard (below).

Running within herself, Janell Havey keeps her mind focused on the space in front of her as she competes in the 800 meter run.

Seniors Pomeroy, Rugman Lead Team

It was a tough year for the girls track team with not very many going out for the team and the competition in the Ft. Wayne area being fairly good. Old man weather won two of the scheduled meets, with those against Harding/Carroll and Snider/Bellmont being cancelled. In addition to their 1-8 season, they scored 18 points in the East Noble Relays to place tenth out of sixteen teams. At the Carroll Relays, they scored 22 points to place fifth out of six. And in the conference meet, 21 points were scored for a seventh place finish.

Two seniors were among the team leaders in performance. Shelly Rugman had the best throw of her career in the discus of 109 feet against East Noble, which was the best in the area up until sectional time. Her toss of 106'7" placed her fourth in the NEIAC. Lori Pomeroy placed in both hurdle events in the conference, placing third with a career best of 16.4 in the 100's and fourth in the 300 with a time of 49.9 seconds. Sophomore Stef Schlosser had a personal season best in the 100 hurdles of 16.8 seconds.

The reserve team, making good use of their limited numbers, had 7 wins and 2 losses.

State Rankings Feature Barons

State-wide recognition came to both Baron diamond teams n 1989. While the softball team was ranked as high as second, the baseball team finished with a twelfth place ranking. But a loss to Bellmont gave them a second place in the NEIAC and they lost to East Noble in the final game of the sectional.

Carrying more than his share of the pitching burden was senior Jason Smith, whose 1.75 ERA topped the overall team average ERA of 2.7. Smith struck out 111 and walked 32 en route to his 14 win, 2 loss, 3 saves record. Injured for part of the year, Mike Spratt "smoked" his way to a 2.745 ERA with 3 wins, 2 losses, and 1 save. Ken Jones and Todd McAfee had identical 3-1-1 records.

Offensive punch is evident in the team's .338 batting average, highlighted by Jamie Back's .439 and Tom Findley's .426. Findley had 6 of the team's 17 home runs and scored a team-high 31 runs closely followed by John Ulm with 29. The latter two were also team leaders in stolen bases, Findley with 29 and Ulm with 23. Findley walked 24 times and Brett Henderson got 19 free passes. Todd McAfee led the team with 5 sacrifices.

Reserves Prepare For Big Time

The junior varsity teams of both baseball and softball had a lot to live up to because both varsity teams had such outstanding seasons. Both did fairly well for themselves, however, ending up 11-6 in baseball and 9-2 in softball.

In all, twenty-three players saw some baseball reserve action. On the offensive side, the team had a .302 batting average with six players going over the .350 mark: Nick Keller (.446), Jim Leslie (.407), Matt Peters (.393), Scott Allison (.379), Stuart Kruse (.362), and Jason Fike (.357). Peters, with two, had the team's only home runs. He was also the leader in RBI's with 25 of the team's 113. The team stole 61 bases with Nick Keller accounting for 13 of them.

The pitching staff had a combined 4.375 earned run average with Scott Bebout, of the regular pitchers, having the best at 1.833.

The softball junior varsity batted .325 with Kara Ransom leading at .454. Julie Whittington and Rita Smith both scored 17 runs and Kelly Franks had 8 RBI's. Rita Smith used her speed to lead the team with 14 stolen bases.

Quickery Pitches To Championship

Championship! The softball team actually won three championships, but not the ones they really wanted — regional and state. They did win the Elmhurst Tourney, the NEIAC, and the East Noble sectional. However they were shut out for the only time all year by Twin Lakes, the eventual state champ, in the first game of the regional.

The Barons had a very stingy pitcher in Angie Quickery, whose 17-1 record included a .69 ERA. She struck out 158 and walked only 36 in 111 innings pitched. Kerrie Quickery, the othr pitcher, had a 2.51 ERA with 43 strike outs and 31 walks in 38 innings pitched.

The team's offensive punch can be seen in their .304 batting average. Team leaders were Joy Kroemer (.419) and Danielle VanAllen (.383). Having over 20 RBI's were Becky Barnett (24), CAndy Rodgers (22) and Tisha Yarlot (21). Barnett also scored 27 runs. Aggressive running gave the team 189 stolen bases led by Renee Smith with 34 and Kroemer with 27.

Catcher Renee Smith had the best fielding percentage at .994, making only one error all year. The team's fielding percentage was .934.

Team Experiences Losing Season

The 1989 edition of the girls tennis team experienced a somewhat down year, with a 6-10 season and a fifth place finish in the DeKalb Invitational, which was won by Carroll. They placed fourth in the Angola Invitational and had a 3-4 record against NEIAC opponents.

There were no members of the varsity squad that had winning records. Lisa Charlesworth, who usually played number two doubles, had the best record with 11 wins and 11 losses. Three players had 10 wins and 12 losses: Chris Blotkamp (number two doubles), Cara Stephens (number one doubles), and Sarah Schmidt (number one doubles). Having 9 victories were Doni Korff (number three singles) at 9-12 and Lisa Wrona (number one singles) at 9-13. Number two singles player Natalie Reynolds finished at 8 and 14.

The reserve team had a 5 and 7 season. Having the best records for the junior varsity were Anne Roberts (9 and 5) and Jill Norris (8 and 6).

Varsity, Reserves Go Undefeated

Although they had some close calls, the golf team finished its dual meet season undefeated. But Homestead beat them out for the conference championship. The reserve golfers were also undefeated. The varsity set a new school record when they scored 140 against Woodlan.

Leading the team in 9 hole averages was Brad Woodcox with a 37.18 average. Following Brad, in order, were Wes Oswalt (38.9), Trent Stuckey (39.27), David Harris (41.2), Mike Houser (42.11), and Mike Payne (43.0). Only Houser was a senior.

The state tournament was delayed by a law suit concerning eligibility. After the legal dispute was resolved, the sectional was further delayed by wet weather. Playing at Eel River, the Barons could manage only a fifth place finish with 321 behind Homestead's first place 311. Individual scores were Houser 75, Stuckey 76, Woodcox 83, and Oswalt 85.

"ARE THERE ANY QUESTIONS?" This commonly used expression has been the theme of the 1989 SABER. Have your questions about the 1988-89 school year been answered? Do you know how many Baron teams had winning records? Do you know where the Building Trades house was built? Do you know who were the king and queen of the prom? No, we're not going to give a quiz, but if you want to, you can look back through the book to find answers to these and many more questions. Maybe we haven't answered all of your questions, but we tried.

. . . Any Questions?

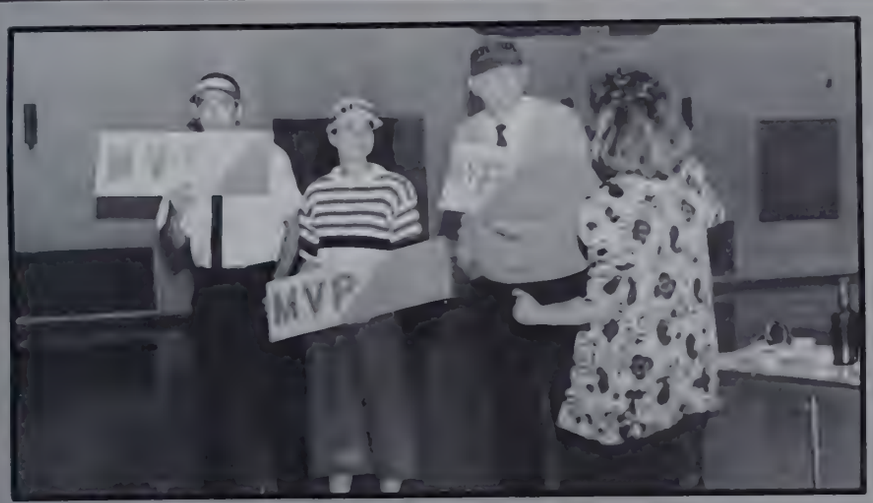
Pages 60-83

SPORTS

What?

WHAT is important besides good pitchers? It's good catchers — as Jacqui Wallace and Renee Smith work with their softball teammates.

Pages 84-125



WHO is the most dangerous of these "criminals"? Debbie Gardner, right, tells the student body about self defense in a special convo

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The staff of the 1989 SABER would like to thank those people who helped to make this yearbook possible and more complete: Mr. Mark Childs, the representative for the Jostens Printing and Publishing Division, for his expert and patient advice and assistance; Studio One, the senior photographer; Lifetouch National School Studios, the underclass photographer; the many companies and individuals in the DeKalb Central school district who are listed elsewhere as patrons, sponsors, or advertisers; and the many students and friends who gave us moral support and picture "tips" when something of interest was happening.

SPECIFICATIONS

The 1989 SABER is 9 x 12 and contains 212 pages. The cover is a litho cover with a special design planned by staff members. The cover is laminated. The end sheets are bright yellow with a name/date design printed on them. The type face is Avant Garde in 10 point for body copy and 8 point for picture captions with Avant Garde Bold for emphasis. Several different headline styles are used throughout the book.
